

Episerver – PODs

Get all benefits having your projects handled by a POD

PODs are teams of consultants with particular complimenting skills and levels of experience, and who are assembled to suit an organization's project needs. This self-contained unit is a superior alternative to having to create and disband teams every time a project comes along. Instead of assigning people to projects, we assign projects to PODs.

Our PODs have the best set of skills in their specialties as well as vast experience, great cooperation, teamwork, and coordination as they have completed project after project together.

You will get speed, greater project control , expertise, better productivity, etc.

And you know where to find the best ones – with us!
